The Grantsmanship Training Program

About the training

The Grantsmanship Training Program is a comprehensive, hands-on workshop that covers the complete grant development process, from researching funding sources to writing and reviewing grant proposals. More than 110,000 nonprofit and government personnel have attended this fast-paced, five-day workshop, which is followed with a full year of membership support services.

What will you learn

During the workshop, participants learn The Grantsmanship Center's proposal-writing format, the most widely used in the world. In addition to practicing advanced techniques for pursuing government, foundation, and corporate grants, participants work in small teams to develop and then review real grant proposals.

Participants exit the class equipped with new skills, new professional connections, and follow-up services for one year, including professional proposal review, access to The Grantsmanship Center's exclusive online funding databases, and an array of other benefits. Many also leave with proposals that are ready to polish and submit.

How to attend

Tuition for the traditional Grantsmanship Training Program costs $895 but the IHS Tribal Management Grant (TMG) Program has contracted this training session specifically for TMG applicants. There is no cost to attend the session. Attendees are only responsible for their travel costs.

Interested attendees should visit the Tribal Management Grant Program website at <http://www.ihs.gov/NonMedicalPrograms/tmg> for registration information.
