

National American Indian & Alaska Native Heritage Month

November 2009

The "Raven Canoe," a 26-foot Tlingit dug-out canoe, was handcrafted for the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History by Douglas Chilton (Tlingit), with the cooperation and oversight of the Sealaska Heritage Institute, a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation and celebration of Tlingit, Haida and Tsimshian people of southeast Alaska.

Revitalizing Health
Energizing Our Mission in an Era of Change