Presents a Webinar

Advancements in Diabetes Seminar
Diabetes Foot Care
Wednesday, September 23, 2015
1:00 – 2:00 pm MDT

Speaker: Kendall Shumway, DPM

Target Audience: Physicians, Nurses, Dietitians and other Healthcare Professionals

Agenda:

- Welcome/Continuing Education Credits
- Diabetes Foot Care
- Q & A
- Survey/Certificate

Description:

The risk of diabetes complications of the foot, including amputation, remains high and greatly affects quality of life. Comprehensive foot exams should be completed at least once/year, however screening practices often fall short. This seminar will provide a review of appropriate foot screening, complete foot exams, diagnosis and treatment of foot complications, and basic wound care. In addition, the seminar will include discussion of considerations for changing clinical and community health practice.

Objectives: As a result of completing this training, participants will be able to:

1. Describe risk factors for diabetic foot complications/amputations.
2. Perform a diabetic foot screening.
3. Outline interventions, education, and follow up associated with decreased risk for foot complications.
4. Identify one change you can make in your clinical or public health practice.

Note: Before you begin the training, you can review the IHS Privacy Policy

(http://www.ihs.gov/privacy_policy.asp). Also, you can review the Survey Monkey Privacy Policy for details on how user information submitted in the evaluation is protected.
