Service Delivery Plan & Draft Master Plan Meeting

User Population

During the Draft Master Plan review meetings in Portland, March 14-18, 2005, discussions arose concerning the User Populations being utilized as a baseline planning assumption for several of the participating tribes. These can be best understood as follows.

Existing to Planned 2004 User Population Variances

A reassessment of user populations was undertaken for PSAs where the accepted current 2004 number was higher than the implied 2004 number as planned for in the 2015 projection. The end result of such variances could produce 2015 projections that are much lower than should be anticipated. So for these PSAs existing growth rates were reviewed in light of unserved Service Population by CHSDA County to determine if market share should be added to existing numbers. Typically when a user to service population ratio rises above 80% it is reasonable to assume existing user populations are accurate.

The following PSAs were considered due to "greater than expected" growth patterns between 2001-2004:

Tribe/PSA	2004 PAO User Pop (Present Reality)	2004 User Pop based on 2015 Projection	% Current Difference
Quileute	597	579	3.08%
Lummi	4,429	4,014	10.33%
Upper Skagit	520	408	27.43%
Shoalwater Bay	427	424	0.70%
Siletz	5,113	4,688	9.05%

- Quileute's CHSDA (Clallum and Jefferson Counties) only demonstrate potential market in one county – Jefferson. However, Jefferson County is shared with six other PSA CHSDAs. Available market is more likely to exist on the Seattle side of the Olympic Peninsula than the Pacific side. In addition to this, Quinnault (a tribe outside of the current SOW) would appear to possess the greatest "gravity" in drawing new users. As a result no additional users were assigned to Quileute as a result of un-served service population. However, the accepted 2004 user population was grown forward by the original planned projection rate to produce a revised 2015 user population of 707 (up from 579).
- Lummi's CHSDA (Whatcom County) is shared with Nooksack and demonstrates an 88.7% user to service population ratio. As a result no additional users were assigned to Lummi as a result of un-served service population. However, the accepted 2004 user population was grown forward by the original planned projection rate to produce a revised 2015 user population of 5090 (up from 4,613).
- Upper Skagit's CHSDA (Skagit County) although demonstrating a 64.7% user to service population ratio, is shared with three other PSAs (Samish, Swinomish, and Sauk-Suiattle). Population increase should only be considered as other tribal growth rates/planning documents are considered as well (these other three PSAs are outside of the current SOW). As a result no additional users were assigned to Upper Skagit as a result of un-served service population. However, the accepted 2004 user population was grown forward by the original planned projection rate to produce a revised 2015 user population of 559 (up from 439).
- Shoalwater Bay's variance is negligible. However, their CHSDA (Pacific County) is not shared with any other PSA and demonstrates a 69.6% market share resulting in a 177 potential users in 2001 rising to a potential 205 users in 2015. As a result, it seems reasonable to assume an 80% market share (user to Service Population ratio) as Shoalwater enhances existing services and completes a new facility. This assumption would add 70 projected users to the 2015 projection. As a result their projected user population was changed from 530 to 600 for 2015. No additional users are anticipated beyond this as a result of current variances.

- Siletz's CHSDA, consisting of eleven counties, is shared by as many as six other PSAs/tribes. Four counties demonstrate greater than 80% user to service population ratios. An additional four should not be considered due to distance from Siletz. The remaining three, however, show available market that is reasonable to assign to Siletz for planning purposes. Unserved service population was assigned at the following ratios: Benton – 75%, Lane – 20%, Tillamook – 10% (1,344 total users). As a result their projected user population was changed from 5,739 to 7,083 for 2015. No additional users are anticipated beyond this as a result of current variances since it is anticipated that additional market share will compensate for the current variance.

Tribe/PSA	Previous 2015 User Pop	Revised 2015 User Pop
Quileute	686	707
Lummi	4,613	5090
Upper Skagit	439	559
Shoalwater Bay	530	600
Siletz	5,739	7,083

Other PSA User Population issues

Northwest Shoshone tribal representation felt their User Population number to be approximately 20% of what they would expect. Existing users were declared to be non-Shoshone (not entirely accurate since three years of RPMS visits identify 708 visits claiming tribal registry as NW Shoshone Band of Utah), while a 30 minute drive perimeter would encompass perhaps 4 times the original baseline of 112 users. Four counties were examined, noting their ANAI populations as identified in the 2000 census: Box Elder, Cache, Weber, and Davis. Each of these was examined in light of the discussed 30 minute perimeter and market shares were assigned as a result based on estimated access patterns. A revised baseline population of 697 will be utilized for Northwest Shoshone as supported by the table below.

County	ANAI Pop (2000)	% Market Share (Est.)	Users
Weber	1,510	25%	377.5
Cache	529	25%	132.25
Box Elder	375	50%	187.5
Total			697

Cowlitz communicated clear intent to establish a southern clinic location in Clark County in addition to their existing location in Longview (see Past Update below). This initiated fresh discussion concerning the appropriateness of user population numbers based on market share including Clark County. 50% of Clark County's 2001 un-served Service population (3,452) was assigned to the proposed South Cowlitz PSA for planning purposes. Existing user pop from the four Clark County communities identified by the HSP as well as the balance of Columbia County's unserved Service pop were also assigned. Consequently, the 2001 baseline user population for the Cowlitz South PSA is proposed at 2,302 (1,726 {50% Clark County unserved} + 289 {existing County users} + 287 {remaining 50% of Columbia County's unserved Service Pop}). The North Cowlitz PSA will utilize a 2001 baseline user population of 2,241 while the South Cowlitz PSA will utilize a 2001 baseline user population of 2,241 (100% of unserved in Cowlitz County, 50% of unserved in Lewis County, and 50% of unserved in Columbia County). The baseline and projected numbers are shown below:

	2001 User Pop	2015 projected User Pop
Cowlitz North	2,241	3,093
Cowlitz South	2,302	3,046

Hoh Tribe also expressed concerns regarding existing and projected user population. Though they felt the number of users should be perhaps twice what it currently is, several factors suggest the current count is appropriate. First, the current accepted user population as listed in the 2004 PAO table identifies only 29 users (far less than their 2001-2003 population). Second, their CHSDA (Jefferson County) is shared with six other PSA CHSDAs. Available market is more likely to exist on the Seattle side of the Olympic Peninsula than the Pacific side. In addition to this, Quinault (a tribe outside of the current SOW) would appear to possess the greatest "gravity" in drawing new users. Third, Hoh tribal members only show a majority percentage of tribal registrants by visit in two communities (Hoh and Hoh Indian Community). Though members live around the Olympic Peninsula it is doubtful that registrants living in Tacoma should be planned for at a small ambulatory care clinic on the pacific side of the peninsula. As a result, Hoh's population numbers were left unchanged.

User Population Table Update

Portland Area Negotiated 2002 numbers were understood in light of CHSDA service population growth rates to arrive at a 2001 and 2015 user population number for each PSA. In preparing for the development of delivery plans that assumption was refined to a more discreet understanding by developing community specific profiles based upon specific SACA community alignment for each PSA. This resulted in a more accurate projection of growth rates than previously presented. For most tribes the net result is a higher 2015 projection number. For a few this end result is somewhat lower than originally projected.

Service Area Review Meeting

Since the Service Area Review meeting in Portland February 10, 2005, changes have been made to the master plan assumptions. Most of these relate to the Service Area Community Assumptions (SACA) document and the User Population table. Both documents have been revised and are attached. Changes are noted in the verbiage below.

Community Assumptions Methodology

A review of community assignments was called for both at the Service Area Review Meeting in Portland (February 10, 2005) as well as by phone interview and email for those tribes not at the meeting. Several communities were identified by tribal representatives and re-assigned as appropriate. The most complex assignment issues were related to communities claimed by Wellpinit - Wyncoop.

Some 21 additional communities were identified as "belonging" to Wellpinit – Wyncoop for planning purposes. These were noted at the meeting. However, after further study the following realities became apparent:

- Most all of the additional communities were outside the Wellpinit Service Unit
- None of the additional communities recorded a majority Spokane Tribal registrant user (typically the range of historical tribal registrants ranged from < 1% to 38%, though most were in the 5% range) as supported by Appendix B.
- A few communities were supported by historical Wyncoop facility usage (these were moved and assigned to Wellpinit outright)

As a result, there were three apparent paths forward:

- First, the plan could have re-assigned all communities regardless. This would be inappropriate however since Coeur D'Alene was not present to present their interests.
- Second, the plan could have split populations between Wellpinit and other affected Service Units (ex: Coeur D'Alene). However, the balance of the SACA is not set up to support such an effort. Normally this could be done but assumes all parties have equal access to splitting populations. This is not the case for Portland currently. It is important to clarify that such an effort would only add a possible 196 total users to Wyncoop's planning number as well as open the door to an equal or greater number lost to percentage splits going against Wyncoop. This potential number represents a percentage less than the immigration anticipated for in the draft delivery plan.
- Third, where complete reassessments could be made they should be, and where they cannot be made (as in most of the communities) Wellpinit - Wyncoop's claims to servicing those communities was identified in the green shaded column for future planning purposes.

The third path was chosen as most appropriate and will be carried forward in Wyncoop's planning document.

There were two tribes that presented atypical needs: Cow Creek and Cowlitz. Cow Creek already demonstrates an active user population (draft 2004 – 1,913) that is higher than the 2015 planning assumption of 1,855. Cowlitz, in emerging a new healthcare system, likewise demonstrates an active user population (draft – 2004) that is already higher than the 2015 planning assumption of 527. Attempts made to trend each growth pattern were un-reliable since resulting growth rates are hardly sustainable over the next ten years. Instead, un-served populations were analyzed by county and a market share assigned to each to create a more reliable projection number.

- For Cow Creek exponential real historical growth of users combined with significant un-served population by county suggests a 2001 planning baseline of 3,995 growing by appropriate service pop rates to a 2015 projection of 4,942 users. These users will be split into two clinic sites as the SACA ratio suggests.
- For Cowlitz exponential emergence of users combine with significant un-served population by county suggests a 2001 planning baseline of 2,241 growing by appropriate service pop rates to a 2015 projection of 3,093 users.

Appendix C Portland Area CHS Cost Calculations

Appendix C - CHS Data and the CHS Multiplier

In the effort to predict the future burden of CHS costs on the Service Units in the Portland Area, it is important to determine the past experience on a unit of service basis. This allows us to predict future CHS costs when these “unit of service” costs can be multiplied by the predicted new workloads for the expanded population. We are generally successful in finding reliable measures; but in some cases, variable definitions do not lend themselves to finding comparable measures across all Service Units. When we do not have reliable data defined uniformly across Service Units, we can still estimate the costs of these services by knowing what ratio they are to the whole of CHS expenses for the Area.

For example, we know that the Portland Area, through their F.I., expended $23,130,822 for the years 2001, 2002, & 2003. We have broken down that total, with the help of the Area CHS Office and the F.I., into defined amounts, allowing us to determine unit of service costs for most of the service lines identified on the Resource Allocation Section of the Master Plan Primary Service Area report. These are listed on the table below and total $21,027,278. There are 3 categories where the information could not be defined in reliable numerators or denominators, so we could not separate out reliable unit of service costs. These categories total $2,103,544. There was $0 which could not be classified into the categories. There was also $6,183,136 paid directly by the Area Office, rather than the F.I. The table below identifies each of these totals.

In order to calculate the future CHS demand, we determine what the ratio of the unmatched amounts, (Paid by F.I. not included in the Resource Allocation, Not Classified, and Paid by Area Office) are to the amount paid by the F.I. In the Portland Area this ratio is 39%. We refer to this as the Area CHS Multiplier. We can then take the CHS estimate by service line, and apply the Area Multiplier, thereby predicting the total CHS burden for the year 2015.

Community Assumptions Methodology

The very basis of the planning process is a clear understanding of “who serves who?”, as well as “who should serve who?” in our future planning scenario. The table that details this decision making process follows this discussion and is called the Service Area Community Assumptions table. In order to establish this basis for the Portland Area Master Plan workgroup we approached the problem in Round 1 and 2 by looking at each community 4 ways: historical utilization, tribal utilization, geography and present alignment.

- Historical Utilization - identifies the facility that has predominantly captured the simple majority workload for that community referenced. The majority winner is identified by row under the “Facility Visits” multi-column in the pages following. The visit quantity represents the number of visits identified as the majority winner, while the associated percentage indicates the percentage of the total visits that number represents. For additional detail, consult Appendix A - Facility Provider Visits by Facility.
- Tribal Utilization - identifies the predominant tribal registration by simple majority of users for that community referenced. The majority winner is identified by row under the “Tribal Visits” multi-column in the pages following. The visit quantity represents the number of visits by tribe identified as the majority winner, while the associated percentage indicates the percentage of the total visits by tribal registration that number represents. For additional detail, consult Appendix B - Provider Visits by Tribe.
- Geography - identifies the closest Portland Area facility to the community referenced. In Round 1 all Portland Area facilities were considered for the communities/facilities appropriate to that scope of work. However, many “geographies” were not identified since they corresponded to facilities outside of that scope of work. The same is true for Round 2. Many communities are still not considered since they fall outside of the present scope of work. Such communities are identified by a grey shaded cell under the Yellow Primary Service Area column. Some geography assignments were made to communities outside of the current scope because historical utilization majorities were going for care to facilities currently under study. However, they were left in their present assignment because geography and/or tribal utilization did not support re-assignment.
- Present Alignment (Primary Service Area – yellow shade) - refers to the current assignment of a community to a Service Area for planning purposes. Assignment of a community to a Primary Service Area for planning purposes does not change that community’s CHSDA or present Service Unit alignment. Rather, it allows for accurate planning by understanding where each community will likely go for care in the future.

For both Round 1 and 2, four primary “drivers” were considered when assigning communities to a PSA for planning purposes:

1. The Portland Area Facility that has predominantly served historical workload (simple majority %)
2. The Registration of Tribal Members that has predominated (simple majority %)
3. The closest location, assuming the proper facilities were in place there (which may not be true at this present time and may affect past historical patterns)
4. Current Service Unit Assignment, when the drivers above were inconclusive.

In Round 1 the assignment was made utilizing the following methodology:

- If all drivers agree, then the facility winning the historical utilization is assigned that community for future planning purposes
- If the majority of drivers agree, then that agreement identifies the PSA that community is assigned to for planning purposes (unless geography overwhelmingly suggests a new travel pattern)
- If all disagree, the planners considered which driver may be most reliable for future planning. Typically geography is the primary driver, and supports current Service Unit assignment.

However, with the assignment of communities by the PAO in Round 2 to group 1 PSAs, certain overlaps occurred between PSAs creating difficulties in understanding a “complete” community assignment even with the four drivers identified above. As a result, two more columns were added to the SACA table allowing further sensitivity to present and future variables related to community assignment.

- Primary Service Area PAO Assigned (green shaded column header) – this column identifies, regardless of the planner’s perspective, the PAO’s assignment of a community to a PSA for planning purposes in Round 2. At times these assignments agree with the “four driver” approach while at times they do not. Nevertheless, these assignments exist and are real in the sense that user population is expected to come from these communities to the PSA they’re assigned to. However, if the assignment is outside of the appropriate historical Service Unit it stays in this column and is not moved to the yellow shaded column. If it exists within the appropriate historical service unit and there is no other conflict regarding “ownership”, and the four drivers support the assignment, it is carried over into the yellow column as well. As a result, the community at times is associated with a PSA for planning purposes even though its HSP user population is technically not assigned. At times it is both associated with a PSA along with its HSP user population.
- Primary Service Area Past/Future Potential Conflicts (red shaded column header) – in the course of the community selection process certain community assignments were identified as potential problems due to the fact that they had already been assigned to another PSA during Round 1, or there were other PSAs which might lay claim to these communities by virtue of geography, tribal utilization or facility utilization. Wherever a potential problem was noticed, the names of potentially affected PSAs were entered under the red shaded PSA column header. The existence of other service areas in this column in no way affects the present Round 2 assignment. It is intended to guide the PAO and future planners to areas of needed future population splits when additional is available.

The end result is a table somewhat limited in its ability to discreetly align PSAs with community assignments for all Portland Area communities. While some are assigned, many are not, or exist in potential needed split with one or more PSAs. Furthermore, the data needed to make such a split appropriately is simply not available at the present time. Therefore, this table should be used in two primary ways:

- First, to understand the reasons why negotiated populations in the User Population table differ from PAO’s assigned populations (largely for Group 1 PSAs), and
- Second, to identify the communities forming the baseline for the planning process and crossover studies for appropriate PSAs (largely for Group 2 PSAs).

The following pages assign communities and their population to a Primary Service Area based on the above considerations.
