CONTENTS

- History
- Why request SDDB Access
- Required Information for Access
- How to View/Print Reports

HISTORY

- The funding documents that you see attached to the AFA's and the modification documents are generated through a Web site we call the Self-Determination Data Base (SDDDB).
- It is similar to the Office of Self-Governance Data Base (OTSG) which was created to replace a paper system. This system originally was a desktop application.
- The efficiency of the OTSG database prompted the creation of the Self-Determination Database (SDDDB) for Title I – Contracts.

HISTORY

- The Database records all negotiated Program Base, Area and Headquarters tribal shares funding and reports this information once a week to the Tracking Accountability in Government Grants System (TAGGS).
- This same data is extracted and forwarded to Federal Assistance Award Data System/USA Spending.gov to fulfill IHS obligations under the Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act (FFATA).

HISTORY

- IHS Headquarters distributed the desktop software to the Title V tribal users to print their report copies and see their own data online.
- This access has been very popular with the Title V tribal users.
- However, the desktop software proved to be cumbersome, time-consuming and problematic to support.

HISTORY

- A Web site was then built to replace the desktop software and in 2007 the OTSG and SDDB Website was deployed.

SDDDB ACCESS

- This year we would like to offer the Title I contractors access to the Self-Determination Data Base (SDDDB)?
- You can indicate whether or not you want access upon submission of your FY 2013 contract renewal proposal.

Why Request Access

- Access to the SDDB will allow you to view and print your contract's financial status, current and historical, online at any time.
- View what funds have been paid and not paid throughout the life of the contract. Especially useful when funding is under a continuing resolution.

Why Request Access

- No waiting for contract documents to come through the mail.
- Provide option to “Go Green”.
- Verify your funding amounts and bring any discrepancies/missing payments to IHS attention.
- May help track documents for audit purposes.

Required Information for Access

- Recommend 2 people access, preferably the Health Administrator and a Finance person with IHS responsibility.
- The following information is required for access:
  - Tribal Name
  - First Name
  - Last Name
  - Position Title
  - E-mail address
  - Phone Number

Required Information for Access

- IHS Headquarters or Area Office will provide the Web site link directly to you via e-mail.
- User name and temporary password will be provided. First time users will be prompt to change password.
