Title: Update on Immunizations for Adults with Diabetes

Presenter: Jillian Doss-Walker, MPH
IHS Immunization Program Manager (Interim)
Deputy Program Manager/CDC Public Health Advisor

Type of Activity: Enduring Event (Recorded Webinar)

Release Date: September 24, 2020

Expiration Date: September 14, 2023

Estimated Time to Complete Activity: 60 minutes

Live Session Originally Presented on: September 15, 2020

Information about the webinar presentation:

Immunizations are important for keeping people of all ages healthy. Specific immunization needs are determined by factors such as age, lifestyle, health conditions, locations of travel, and previous immunizations. This seminar will address the immunization needs of adults, as well as the needs of adults with diabetes. Comprehensive information on immunization recommendations, schedule, and documentation will be provided.

Objectives and Outcomes:

As a result of completing this training, the healthcare team will be able to:

1. Provide patients with education regarding changes and updates in recommended adult immunizations.
2. Examine specific immunization recommendations for people with diabetes, and their importance to overall health.
3. Implement ways to improve current national and local immunization trends in adult AI/AN patients with diabetes.
4. Utilize tools in the RPMS system to improve the delivery of immunizations and monitor immunization coverage among adults.
5. Identify one change you can make in your clinical or public health practice.
